

KEEP GERMANS PAYING 100 YEARS

So That Next Generation May Feel Punishment For War Says French Economist Jean Rey.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, July 29.—The suggestion that Germany's time limit for the payment of indemnity be extended to a century so that future generations would feel the punishment of war was made today by Jean Rey, noted French financial expert and economic writer.

"In the course of the discussions regarding the method of payment by Germany two most important points have been lost sight of," declared M. Rey.

In the first place, the term of years over which the payments are to be made should not be limited to 20, 40 or even 50 years. It should be 100 at least so that the next generation of Germans would have to pay a share. In the case of an individual, responsibility for payment of an amount due is prolonged until his death unless paid. Since a nation has an indefinite life why should not a similar procedure be adopted?

In the second place, the payments for reparations should have absolute preference over all other claims paid to the Germans by their government on their debts during the war. Germany floated during the war about 200,000,000,000 marks in loans or about 25,000,000,000 francs at the pre-war rate of exchange. These loans were almost entirely floated at home. Why should not the allies force Germany to content with, say one percent interest, during a period of 20 years, so that the German people can meet their reparations bill? When Germany has paid a large percent of this bill, the rate of interest for German holders of war bonds could be raised.

"Nothing would serve better to teach the present generation of Germans that the policy of imperialism, which they upheld with such enthusiasm, does not pay—when you are beaten."

SHIPPING BOARD SURE OF GROUND

Merchant Marine Act Clause Giving Preference to American Carriers Can be Carried Out Despite Threat of Retaliation by Japan, Which Already Has Similar Law.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 29.—Threats of foreign nations to discriminate against the United States merchant marine because of provisions of the merchant marine act of 1920 will be met with immediate action by the shipping board, to prevent the consummation of the "foreign designs," according to announcement made today by the board.

Under the merchant marine act, the United States can adopt preferential treatment for American shipping. This has been resented by both Japan, which has similar legislation, and by England. Japan has threatened to take action against American shipping if the preferential provisions of the merchant marine act are enforced.

The shipping board feels it has two opportunities to prevent any discrimination against American bottoms. If Japan, as has been suggested, makes special regulations on freight to American ports to drive American competition from the seas and does not make similar provisions for other nations, the shipping board has the right to inquire into the action before the ship carrying the Japanese cargo is permitted to dock.

In addition the interstate commerce commission has the power to order increased rates or take other action to counteract discriminatory preference given in Japan to the Japanese carriers, through either north or south Pacific ports, in which the Japanese ships operate.

Explaining the provisions of the merchant marine act to which the foreign countries object Rear Admiral Benson of the shipping board, declared:

"The discriminatory features of the law are not intended as a club over foreign competition. They are merely there to force our competitors to play the game fairly. Foreign shipping interests must stop their discriminations against American vessels, if they do not wish us to resort to section 28 of the act."

Section 28, providing for preferential rates for goods to be shipped in American bottoms, will not be placed into operation before January 1 because of the inability of the board to complete its investigation of travel laws and because of the immense amount of freight being handled.

Officials of the board explained the Japanese law, granting preferential rates and rebates to ship companies, has caused American vessels to return to the United States without full cargoes on numerous occasions.

WILL SING COX TO WHITE HOUSE

Songs and Bands To Play Prominent Part in Democratic Campaign—"Boost Cox" a New Parody.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dayton, O., July 29.—Democratic leaders plan to make this a singing campaign.

Deeply impressed by the psychological effect of "Ohio," upon the delegates at the San Francisco convention Chairman George White has determined that a test shall be made of the possibilities of music as a means of swaying political sentiment, and a number of prominent composers are now at work on Cox campaign songs which will be officially adopted and promulgated by the Democratic campaign committee.

Bands will take a prominent part in both the "home-coming" celebration to Governor Cox in Dayton on Friday and the notification ceremonies at Montgomery County Fair Grounds on August 7. Among the musical organizations participating will be the famous "Rainbow Division" band, which is made up of men from the Ohio national guard, who fought with the division in France. Another now famous musical organization which will take a prominent part is the Meteor Band of Piqua, Ohio whose martial airs at the San Francisco convention are credited by Democratic leaders with having done much to bring about the nomination of Governor Cox.

But the chief musical number of the notification ceremonies has been reserved as a surprise. It is a song, destined, Democratic leaders say, to become the battle cry of the coming campaign.

It is entitled "Boost Cox" and will be rendered by the Columbus Glee Club, an organization of fifty members who participated in the Cox campaign fight at San Francisco.

It is sung to the melody of "Hardy."

Here is the chorus:
"I-I-M-M-Y C-O-X spells Jimmy Cox;
We'll shell the man who'll say a word again him.
Elect him and he'll give you the best that's in him."

"He stands on his record of the past,
Open for inspection to all;
It's a name, all in fame, and
He is sure to be connected with
The White House this fall."

According to Secretary Godden, of the Democratic campaign committee, the glee clubs have a number of other clever parodies on tap, including one to the effect that Senator Harding is all dressed up but has no place to go and these will be sung at the August 7 ceremonies.

The "sing Cox to victory" movement, according to Mr. Godden, is already well organized and has the full backing of not only the national organization, but the state organizations as well.

HALF MILLION TOMBS

William Rockefeller To Have One of Costliest in America.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 29.—One of the costliest tombs ever erected in America will be the last resting place of William Rockefeller, multi-millionaire oil magnate and a brother of John D. Rockefeller, here.

Although still hearty for his age, the millionaire has ordered his tomb. The magnificent structure, which will cost $500,000, is being designed by the architects of the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, near Tarrytown, N. Y., and is being built under his personal supervision.

According to reports, the tomb will cost $500,000. Persons in close touch with the aged financier said today that it would "be very costly" but would make no further comment.

The tomb will be erected in historical old Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, the burial place of many millionaires.

HARDING CALLERS FOR BREAKFAST

Delegations Eat Ham and Eggs With Candidate at 8 O'clock—Wood Leader Assures Him General's Friends "Have Their Steaks Rolled Up."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Marion, O., July 29.—Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for president, sat down to a good old fashioned meal of ham and eggs and trimmings at 8 o'clock with a delegation of about 50 from Chicago headed by Fred W. Upham, Republican national treasurer; Brigadier General William Nathan Mac Chesney, and Charles Piz, formerly of the shipping board.

Mac Chesney was vice-chairman of General Leonard Wood's pre-convention national campaign committee. He assured Harding that Wood men throughout the country were working hard for the success of the Republican ticket and "with their sleeves rolled up."

The breakfast was served at the Marion Club. The Chicago delegation arrived here at 6:30 over the Erie, but the earliness of the hour did not prevent Senator Harding from being present at the club to meet the visitors.

Other visitors Senator Harding was scheduled to have during the day were former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Colonel Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, who was a supporter of Governor Lowden's pre-convention campaign, and C. C. Pavely, a Columbus, Ohio, attorney, heading a small delegation from that city.

Most of the day, however, Senator Harding planned to devote to the preparation of the short speech he is to deliver Saturday from the front porch of his Ohio residence to about 1,000 residents of Mansfield, Shelby and other sections of Richland county, Ohio, who are to journey here by train, electric car, automobile, and—yes, airplane.

At least two airplanes will bring several persons cross country to Marion. A woman is expected to pilot one of them.

Senator Harding's speech will be more of an Ohio one than a national one—a heart to heart talk with the folks of his own state, the first of its kind he has made since he told his fellow citizens of Marion how greatly he appreciated the enthusiastic home coming they gave him.

BEAUTY ENOUGH IN CATSKILLS

New Yorkers Told There is No Need to Long to See World's Far Off Wonders of Nature When Catskills Are So Near.

A correspondent writes as follows to the New York Tribune telling of objects of interest and beauty on a trip to Kingston and the Catskills, including a visit to the Senate House. To the Editor of The Tribune:

Sir:—People often say: "I would love to travel" or "I wish I could afford to travel." It has come to me that if some of these folks would avail themselves of a few of these glorious summer days, take a map of their own state before them and save a few of the dollars that go into the movies, for instance, they would realize that they do not have to go very far from the city of New York to see beauties that are equal to any in other places.

I am not a New Yorker and have traveled some through the United States. The past week I had occasion to take a short trip, and chose the Hudson river and up into the Catskill Mountains. Arriving at Kingston, N. Y., I found so much of historical interest that I cannot help sharing it with Tribune readers.

As many of you know, Kingston is the oldest city in New York state. It was there at Senate House, the constitution of the state of New York was signed, and where, on July 28, 1777, the first governor, George Clinton, was inaugurated. The old house still stands, filled with relics, the pride of Kingston. The charming lady in charge of the house will tell you of numerous other places that you must see while in Kingston.

Then take a ride through the mountains, along the great Ashokan reservoir, the marvelous piece of work that supplies the city of New York with water. It is forty-four miles in circumference. At the plant itself is a spectacle that is worth traveling thousands of miles to see, hundreds of "geysers" throwing water to a height of eighty feet, against a background of woods and mountains. One could linger long—R is a thing of marvelous beauty.

Then on through the forests of the Catskills and Phoenicia, right in the heart of the mountains where there are groves and beauty. And beyond Phoenicia, more mountains and more beauty.

Now, why mention beauty so far from travel and "see the world"? I find that New Yorkers have their own city, and to mention state, less than people who come from all parts of the country. Why, many people have never been to Mount Park, have never been inside the Metropolitan Museum or the Museum of Natural History?

The trouble is that we are always wanting things far away and not taking that which is within our reach.

My advice, then, for look for beautiful things and you can't help but find them right at home. Dr. J. R. New York, July 18, 1920.

MRS. JOHAN BOLT BURNS TO DEATH

Aged Washington Avenue Woman Believed to Have Set Fire to Her Bed Clothing and Was Unable to Escape Flames, Which Were Confined to Room.

Mrs. Johan Bolt, aged 85 years, was burned to death at her home, 401 Washington avenue this morning about 1:30 o'clock. She resided with her stepdaughter, Mrs. Jennie C. Adams, in a four apartment house at 339-401 Washington avenue, and had been ill recently. Mrs. Adams attending her, sleeping on a cot in an adjoining room. The barking of her small dog awakened her and smelling smoke went to the room of Mrs. Bolt, where she found the room filled with smoke and fire raging. She roused a family named Malnes living upstairs, and Officer Shadr was soon on the scene. He crawled on the floor into the room through the heavy heated, smoke-laden air where Mrs. Bolt's body lay with her head partly under the bed, her hands clasping beneath it. Her hands had pulled off evidently in her efforts to escape from the flames.

George Caron, who resides in the adjoining building, who heard Mrs. Adams' cries for help, got up and went between the buildings and threw a dozen or more pails of water into the room and on the bed. He stated to a Freeman reporter this morning that he heard Mrs. Bolt's groans and that the room seemed to be all on fire and that the water which he threw into the room prevented the house from being burned down.

Mrs. Bolt's clothing was burned off of her, her body was badly charred but her face, although darkened by the smoke, was not charred. An alarm of fire was rung in from Box 35 and the firemen responded quickly and what remained of the fire, which was confined to the bed, was extinguished with chemicals.

Because of her advanced age, Mrs. Bolt was of enfeebled mind and had a penchant for lighting matches and starting a fire in a stove in a rear room, and knowing this, pains had been taken by Mrs. Adams to keep matches hid, in order to prevent the old lady setting something on fire. The supposition is that she got hold of some matches Wednesday and early this morning accidentally set the bedding on fire, she being unable to escape the flames.

The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker W. N. Conner and removed to his funeral chapel on Fair street. The family came from Ellenville and own a burial plot in the cemetery there.

A volunteer army is rapidly being recruited and according to officers, it will number 4,000 within a few days. Recruiting offices were opened within a few hours after Governor Cantu had received word of the proposed "invasion." A proclamation was issued calling upon all the citizens of the state to take up arms against the invaders.

Governor Cantu today expected an answer from Provisional President de la Huerta to his telegram charging the Mexican chief executive with full responsibility for any damage or bloodshed that may come from the "invasion."

The three airplanes which Governor Cantu recently added to his military establishment were scheduled to take the air today in an effort to gain definite information as to the strength of the invading army. These planes are equipped for bombing and a large supply of aerial bombs has been manufactured.

Reports to Governor Cantu indicated that the forces converging on Ensenada, number about 4,000. Of this number 3,000 are from Mazatlan and 1,000 from Guaymas.

"KEEPING FIT" CAMPAIGN ENDS

From the beginning of the "Keeping Fit" campaign with the meeting at Rosendale to the very end with the closing meeting at Stone Ridge, the interest was keen and the meetings well attended. As has been stated before in the columns of The Freeman, this campaign was conducted by the Ulster County Home Bureau and the State Department of Health. Nine meetings were held in all and these were in the following places: Rosendale, West Hurley, High Falls, Accord, New Paltz, Modena, New Hurley, Gardiner, and Stone Ridge. All arrangements for the meetings were made by the local Home Bureau committees and the Home Bureau Manager.

It was through the State Department of Health that Dr. Carlo C. Croff of Buffalo came to the county to tell the message of "Keeping Fit." The great interest in the entire campaign was due to the fact that just such a woman as Dr. Croff was the speaker. Dr. Croff is a physician, a wife, and above all, a woman of the highest ideals. It was her charming personality and especially attractive manner together with her very high standing as a physician that interested all of her audiences from the very beginning of her talks and held their attention to the end. The interest in these meetings also proved that the women of Ulster county are thinking sanely and are not "Mock Modest." Statistics collected during the war and especially from the draft examination were startling and aroused the various health and other organizations of our country to a realization that certain information must be given along health lines that had never been given before because of ignorance and "false modesty" in order to safeguard American manhood and womanhood. In all of her talks Dr. Croff not only gave scientific facts which are essential, but also analyzed the reasons for existing conditions and most important of all, pointed out the remedies. Dr. Croff's addresses were not emotional or dramatic but she brought out fundamental truths, yet leaving much food for thought, and showed perhaps more clearly than any other speaker the Ulster County Home Bureau has ever had how every activity we are fostering: Courses in civics, home nursing, clothing, nutrition, meetings on home conveniences, community rest rooms, community recreation, junior projects, even canning and keeping household accounts, are after all valuable not only in themselves but as a link in the chain of "Keeping Fit."

The proof of the success of these "Keeping Fit" meetings lies not only in the interest manifest during the campaign but in the requests which have come in since the campaign for similar meetings in other communities. The Home Bureau is already arranging to have Dr. Croff in the county again, probably early in the fall.

The Home Bureau committee in charge of the above mentioned meetings are as follows:

Rosendale—Mrs. C. V. Hasbrouck, Mrs. Ralph LaFever, Mrs. Charles Skinner.

West Hurley—Mrs. John H. Saxe, Mrs. Matthew Williams, Miss Laura Foster, Mrs. George Scribner, Miss Marion Saxe.

MEN'S SILK SHIRTS

HOW often you are told to be careful in laundering the menfolk's silk shirts. You must not discolor them; you must not let them fade—and they must not be injured so that the silk is weakened.

Sounds like a big task—but not at all. Just use Ivory Soap Flakes and the cleansing of silk shirts becomes really easy, without any worry at all, because you know they will not be harmed in any way by good old Ivory Soap. The thin, snowlike flakes of Ivory Soap melt to a delicate, cleansing, foamy suds the instant they touch hot water. Cool the suds off lukewarm, and wash the silk just by swirling and swirling it in the soapy foam. You don't have to rub, so there's no chance for injury.

Wash all silks this new way next time. The men will be delighted, too. Get Ivory Soap Flakes at your dealer's.

ROTARY HEARS OF BOYS' WORK

At the Rotary luncheon Wednesday the topic of the speaker, Robin Steele and William S. Blunt, was boys' work as discussed by the Atlantic City convention. Mr. Steele had prepared an abstract of the committee report covering briefly the main points as follows:

The report of the Committee on Boys' Work was presented Wednesday afternoon by John Dolph, chairman of the committee. He stated that the year just past would be looked back upon as the year when Rotary clubs universally began in a serious way to put into practice their theories regarding boys' work.

The different clubs were the establishing of gymnasiums, playgrounds, swimming schools, bands, social wholesome entertainment in connection with the Y. M. C. A., schools and other organizations. Some clubs have established juvenile courts and institutions for the training of delinquent boys. The results have been obtained by other clubs through their efforts in giving the boys vocational guidance and education and encouragement to earn and save money and efforts to inspire and increase school attendance had met with fine results.

The establishing of Boys' Week and the way it was carried out beginning with May day by the New York Rotary Club was thought by the committee to be one of the most noteworthy single undertakings of the year on account of its community interest and far-reaching results. The chairman brought out very forcibly the fact that the boy of today is the man of tomorrow and the best way to insure the future stability of our country is to educate our youths and make them mentally, physically, morally and politically strong.

The need for this education was brought forth by the statements of the Secretary of the Interior of the United States that nearly four million or nearly 10% of the rural population of the U. S. could read the simplest bulletin newspaper or their Bibles or keep simple accounts. A prominent officer of the U. S. Army also pointed out that only about 20% of the men drafted in the United States could have passed the physical examination required by the regular Army during peace times.

Congress is now considering national legislation designed to assist the schools in making the physical education universal throughout the country and Rotarians in America have been called upon to interest themselves in this legislation. The fact that many boys were leaving school for work on account of the seeming greater opportunity for advancement in the industries and in this way weakening the future mental strength of our country through undertrained mentality.

A large percentage of these boys can be induced to continue their education if the future advantage of such education can be forcibly and understandingly explained to both boys and parents. Others could be reached and helped by the establishing of study periods and classes after working hours. Chairman Dolph closed his report by saying that if Rotary would strike a blow at Bolshevism it must be done positively and not negatively.

FINED $30 FOR "GETTING FRESH"

Abe Ahelson, an agent, placed arm around Mrs. Abram Wood's neck and dropped some huckleberries down her back—she had him arrested for assault.

Abe Ahelson, an agent who has been busy in Kingston for the past three weeks selling rugs and carpets for a wholesale house out of town, paid a fine of $30 in police court last Wednesday afternoon when Judge Schirick found him guilty of placing his arm around the neck of Mrs. Abram Wood of No. 12 Wilbur avenue and dropping a handful of huckleberries down her back. He also fined Ahelson $10 for contempt of court, but later remitted the ten spot.

From the story as brought out that afternoon Ahel on had left some curtains at the home of Mrs. Charles Harbeck at No. 26 Wilbur avenue and that afternoon he called to get the curtains. At the time Mrs. Wood was in the kitchen visiting with Mrs. Harbeck, who is her sister-in-law. There was a dish of huckleberries on the table and when Mrs. Harbeck stepped out of the kitchen Mrs. Wood testified that Ahelson picked up a handful and said to her, "Have some" and then placing one arm around her neck dropped the handful of berries down the back of her blouse.

She told him that he was "too fresh" and after he had left the house she called up her husband and told him how the agent had insulted her.

Mr. Wood called at police headquarters and was advised to see Judge Schirick, which he did and which led to Mrs. Wood's arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree. Ahelson and Ahelson's arrest on a charge of assault in the third degree.

Ahelson and another man for the past three weeks have been touring the city with a horse and wagon selling merchandise.

This morning in a New York City court, Ahelson was arrested by Officer Latroit Wednesday afternoon for parking his car on Fair street, paid a $2 fine.

Cit's Gates Nearly Finished.

WARNS OF GREAT SOVIET INVASION

Dela Kun, Detained by Germans, Promises "Red" Army Will "Pillbox" Smash Bourgeoisie of Central Europe."

By Telegram to The Freeman, Berlin, July 29.—Warning of a great offensive campaign by the Russian Red army to smash the central powers, were sounded today at Swinemund by Dela Kun, former Communist dictator of Hungary, according to a dispatch from that city to the newspaper Neuer Berliner.

Belie Kun was quoted saying: "The revolution is breaking upon the east are breaking upon the frontiers of Europe. The first attack will be made by the Red army through Galicia in the direction of Hungary. We will pitilessly smash the bourgeoisie of central Europe." Dela Kun was on his way to Russia when he was seized at Swinemund by the German authorities and detained there. His forecast that the Russians would advance through Galicia was borne out by the soviet war office communique, wirelessly here from Moscow, which showed that the Russians had already invaded Galicia, capturing the important cities of Brodno and Tarnopol respectively five and thirteen miles inside of the Galician frontier.

Salvation Army Band Fine One. Large crowds listened Wednesday evening to concerts given by the staff band of the Salvation Army, one at the corner of Wall and John street and one at the corner of Abel street and Broadway. The band is a fine one and the selections were most artistically rendered, the instrumentalists being finished musicians. The bandmen also sang choruses, and a member made interesting addresses. It was a musical treat for those who heard the concerts.

ATHLETES HEARBY.

Princess Matoika Encounters Rough Weather. By Telegram to The Freeman, Stockholm, July 29. (via wireless)—Officials of the Olympic games committee were threatened with a miniature strike today when three masseurs accompanying the American athletes demanded that they be equipped with uniforms similar to those issued to the athletes. The demands were met.

The Princess Matoika encountered strong winds and heavy seas today and from 30 to 40 cases of sea sickness developed. Karl Myer, intercollegiate pole vault champion, wrenched his back slightly but no serious complications are expected and probably he will resume his training tomorrow. Mike Delaney, steeplechase entrant, who has been suffering from a sore toe, will stage his first workout tomorrow.

OLYMPIC SHOOT.

U. S. Has Largest Team At Army Rifle Match. The target ranges are at Beverloo and Limburg. The competing nations and the number of representatives follow: United States 26; Belgium 24; Brazil 7; Canada 2; Denmark 18; Finland 9; France 28; Great Britain 16; Greece 12; Holland 8; Italy 11; Norway 16; Portugal 6; South Africa 8; Spain 12; Sweden 24; Switzerland 1 and Czechoslovakia 13. The shooting is being done with army rifles today, but they will be continued into next week with pistols and small rifles.

Chaufer's Exams Tuesday. Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock the state department will hold a chauffeurs' examination at the city hall.

HOPS TO JUMP.

Home Brew Lovers Expected to Buy Crop at the Farm. By Telegram to The Freeman, Interlaken, N. Y., July 29.—The price of hops is due to "hop" this fall to the hop growers say. All summer long auto tourists have been riding through the hop country looking at the growing crop with longing eyes. It's going to be a bumper crop, too, but the autoists are ready to buy the hops right off the vine to be taken home for their concoctions of "home brew."

"About all the hops there will be left around here this fall," say the farmers, "will be the hops in the grasshoppers and hoptoads."

Poughkeepsie Thieves Get Off. Burglars entered Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie, during Tuesday night and made off with $11 which was in the office till. An attempt was made to break open the safe but this failed. The burglary was the work of amateurs, the police say.

New Telephone Rates Are Necessary

A Statement to the Public

by H. F. THURBER, President

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

OUR existing rates for telephone service in New York State are inadequate. The revenue they produce is insufficient to pay our operating expenses, provide for necessary reserves and secure the fair return required to attract new capital for extensions and additions to the system.

It is not strange that this should be the case. Our revenues are not keeping up with our expenses. All telephone materials and supplies have increased enormously in cost; wages have gone up; increases in wages of our employees during the past twelve months to help them meet the higher cost of living amount to $11,800,000. $4,100,000 more have been added to our payroll by the employment of additional workers.

To meet the greatest demand for telephone service in our history, we have made extensive additions to the system, which, under present day conditions, have involved an abnormal expense. Our 1920 expansion program in this state calls for an expenditure of over $30,000,000, and to meet the increasing demand for telephone service, we must expend equally large amounts annually during the next few years.

The continued development of our service depends upon adequate revenue. Inadequate revenue means a repetition in the telephone business of what has happened to the railroads. You know their story. Inadequate rates have stifled their development and every community in the country is suffering as a consequence. Inadequate telephone rates will produce similar results for the system of telephone communication. It is unthinkable that this will be permitted. Adequate telephone service is of the utmost importance to the public; without it the business and social interests of every community must suffer.

The plain fact is we have reached a point where we cannot maintain a satisfactory and comprehensive telephone service in this state unless we are assured of sufficient additional revenue.

It will be necessary to establish new rates for telephone service and a schedule, which we hope will furnish the needed relief, will be filed within a few days with the Public Service Commission, Second District. This schedule will yield only reasonable assistance. All the facts regarding the necessity for the new rates will be given to the public through the advertising columns of the newspapers and through other channels.

Public sentiment and public necessity demand the maintenance of adequate telephone service. Business men particularly realize this fact. Only recently representative business men in Washington, D. C., in Illinois, in Michigan and in other states have urged the adoption of increases in telephone rates that were necessary in these abnormal times to insure a continuance of good telephone service.

We do not believe the people of the Empire State will fail to realize that the telephone situation in our State deserves the same active consideration. It vitally affects every person in every community we serve. We desire to put our business upon a sound financial basis and we believe that when you know the facts you will support us in this endeavor.
